Dear [Company] hiring team,

I build production AI apps every day, and I’m just as good at explaining them in plain English as I am at shipping them. A few I’ve built: an AI phone assistant with voice and memory, an AI clone that gives advice in my voice, and a SaaS with an automated content pipeline.

Here’s the part that matters for [Role]: I can take someone who thinks AI is over their head and get them to ship their first real workflow. I don’t talk down to people and I don’t bury them in jargon. I show them the thing working, then I show them how to run it themselves.

For [Company], I’d help your people actually use AI instead of being scared of it. You can see what I build at contra.com/andre_thomas_sczm465o, or talk to my AI clone at chat.dreythomas.com.

Best,

Drey (Andre Thomas)
